Major Alteration/Major Repair: Part 23, Authority: L11, P11, Limitations: 14 CFR part 23.2325 for the following flammability testing authorities (procedures as described in DOT/FAA/AR-00/12 Aircraft Materials Fire Test Handbook): 1. Vertical Bunsen Burner Test with 60 second flame exposure time for Interior ceiling panels, interior wall panels, partitions, galley structure, large cabinet walls, structural flooring, and materials used in the construction of stowage compartments (other than underseat stowage compartments and compartments for stowing small items such as magazines and maps). This also includes self-extinguishing materials located on the cabin side of the firewall. The average burn length may not exceed 6 inches and the average flame time after removal of the flame source may not exceed 15 seconds. Drippings from the test specimen may not continue to flame for more than an average of 3 seconds after falling. 2. Vertical Bunsen Burner Test with 12 second flame exposure time for floor covering, textiles (including draperies and upholstery), seat cushions, padding, decorative and non-decorative coated fabrics, leather, trays and galley furnishings, electrical conduit, thermal and acoustical insulation and insulation covering, air ducting, joint and edge covering, cargo compartment liners, insulation brakes, cargo covers and transparencies, molded and thermoformed parts, air ducting joints, and trim strips (decorative and chafing), that are constructed of materials not covered in paragraph 3 below. The average burn length may not exceed 8 inches and the average flame time after removal of the flame source may not exceed 15 seconds. Drippings from the test specimen may not continue to flame for more than an average of 5 seconds after falling. 3. Horizontal Bunsen Burner Test with 2.5 inches per minute burn length limit for Acrylic windows and signs, parts constructed in whole or in part of elastomeric materials, edge-lighted instrument assemblies consisting of two or more instruments in a common housing, seatbelts, shoulder harnesses, and cargo and baggage tiedown equipment, including containers, bins, pallets, etc., used in passenger or crew compartments. 4. Horizontal Bunsen Burner Test with 4.0 inches per minute burn length limit for materials in items not specified in paragraphs 1, 2, or 3 above except for electrical wire cable insulation, and for small parts (such as knobs, handles, rollers, fasteners, clips, grommets, rub strips, pulleys, and small electrical parts) that the Administrator finds would not contribute significantly to the propagation of a fire. 5. 45-Degree Bunsen Burner Test for materials used in baggage and cargo compartment ceiling and sidewall liners and floor panels. The flame may not penetrate (pass through) the material during application of the flame or subsequent to its removal. The average flame time after removal of the flame source may not exceed 15 seconds, and the average glow time may not exceed 10 seconds. 6. 60-Degree Bunsen Burner Test for insulation on electrical wire and electrical cable. Material must be self-extinguishing when tested at an angle of 60 degrees in accordance with the applicable portions of Appendix F of this part, or other approved equivalent methods. The average burn length must not exceed 3 inches (76 mm) and the average flame time after removal of the flame source must not exceed 30 seconds. Drippings from the test specimen must not continue to flame for more than an average of 3 seconds after falling. Major Alteration/Major Repair: Part 23, Authority: L11, Limitations: 14 CFR part 23.2325 (a)(1)(2)(3), (b)(1)(2), (c); for the following flammability testing authorizations (procedures as described in 14 CFR Part 23 Appendix F23, Amendment 23-62, or DOT/FAA/AR-00/12 Aircraft Materials Fire Test Handbook): 1. Vertical Bunsen Burner Test with 60 second flame exposure time for Interior ceiling panels, interior wall panels, partitions, galley structure, large cabinet walls, structural flooring, and materials used in the construction of stowage compartments (other than under seat stowage compartments and compartments for stowing small items such as magazines and maps). This also includes self-extinguishing materials located on the cabin side of the firewall. The average burn length may not exceed 6 inches and the average flame time after removal of the flame source may not exceed 15 seconds. Drippings from the test specimen may not continue to flame for more than an average of 3 seconds after falling. 2. Vertical Bunsen Burner Test with 12 second flame exposure time for floor covering, textiles (including draperies and upholstery), seat cushions, padding, decorative and non-decorative coated fabrics, leather, trays and galley furnishings, electrical conduit, thermal and acoustical insulation and insulation covering, air ducting, joint and edge covering, cargo compartment liners, insulation brakes, cargo covers and transparencies, molded and thermoformed parts, air ducting joints, and trim strips (decorative and chafing), that are constructed of materials not covered in paragraph 3 below. The average burn length may not exceed 8 inches and the average flame time after removal of the flame source may not exceed 15 seconds. Drippings from the test specimen may not continue to flame for more than an average of 5 seconds after falling. 3. Horizontal Bunsen Burner Test with 2.5 inches per minute burn length limit for Acrylic windows and signs, parts constructed in whole or in part of elastomeric materials, edge-lighted instrument assemblies consisting of two or more instruments in a common housing, seatbelts, shoulder harnesses, and cargo and baggage tie down equipment, including containers, bins, pallets, etc., used in passenger or crew compartments. 4. Horizontal Bunsen Burner Test with 4.0 inches per minute burn length limit for materials in items not specified in paragraphs 1, 2, or 3 above except for electrical wire cable insulation, and for small parts (such as knobs, handles, rollers, fasteners, clips, grommets, rub strips, pulleys, and small electrical parts) that the Administrator finds would not contribute significantly to the propagation of a fire. 5. 45-Degree Bunsen Burner Test for materials used in baggage and cargo compartment ceiling and sidewall liners and floor panels. The flame may not penetrate (pass through) the material during application of the flame or subsequent to its removal. The average flame time after removal of the flame source may not exceed 15 seconds, and the average glow time may not exceed 10 seconds. 6. 60-Degree Bunsen Burner Test for insulation on electrical wire and electrical cable. Material must be self-extinguishing when tested at an angle of 60 degrees in accordance with the applicable portions of 14 CFR Part 23 Appendix F23.1, Part I, Amendment 23-62, or other approved equivalent methods. The average burn length must not exceed 3 inches (76 mm) and the average flame time after removal of the flame source must not exceed 30 seconds. Drippings from the test specimen must not continue to flame for more than an average of 3 seconds after falling. 7. Flammability and Flame Propagation Characteristics of Thermal/Acoustic Insulation Materials: When tested in accordance with 14 CFR Part 23 Appendix F23.2, Part II, Amendment 23-62, or other approved equivalent methods; a. There must be no flame propagation beyond 2 inches (51 mm) to the left of the centerline of the pilot flame application, and b. The flame time after removal of the pilot burner may not exceed 3 seconds on any specimen. NOTE: Includes delegation to approve flammability test plans which conform without deviation to the procedures described in DOT/FAA/AR-00/12 (Aircraft Materials Fire Test Handbook). LIMITATIONS: 14 CFR part 23.2330(c); For flammability of terminals, equipment materials and electrical cables described herein, testing procedures described in Limitations section for 14 CFR part 23.2325 may be used as appropriate.

Vertical Bunsen Burner Test with 60 second flame exposure time for Interior ceiling panels, interior wall panels, partitions, galley structure, large cabinet walls, structural flooring, and materials used in the construction of stowage compartments (other than underseat stowage compartments and compartments for stowing small items such as magazines and maps). This also includes self-extinguishing materials located on the cabin side of the firewall. The average burn length may not exceed 6 inches and the average flame time after removal of the flame source may not exceed 15 seconds. Drippings from the test specimen may not continue to flame for more than an average of 3 seconds after falling. 2. Vertical Bunsen Burner Test with 12 second flame exposure time for floor covering, textiles (including draperies and upholstery), seat cushions, padding, decorative and non-decorative coated fabrics, leather, trays and galley furnishings, electrical conduit, thermal and acoustical insulation and insulation covering, air ducting, joint and edge covering, cargo compartment liners, insulation brakes, cargo covers and transparencies, molded and thermoformed parts, air ducting joints, and trim strips (decorative and chafing), that are constructed of materials not covered in paragraph 3 below. The average burn length may not exceed 8 inches and the average flame time after removal of the flame source may not exceed 15 seconds. Drippings from the test specimen may not continue to flame for more than an average of 5 seconds after falling. 3. Horizontal Bunsen Burner Test with 2.5 inches per minute burn length limit for Acrylic windows and signs, parts constructed in whole or in part of elastomeric materials, edge-lighted instrument assemblies consisting of two or more instruments in a common housing, seatbelts, shoulder harnesses, and cargo and baggage tiedown equipment, including containers, bins, pallets, etc., used in passenger or crew compartments. 4. Horizontal Bunsen Burner Test with 4.0 inches per minute burn length limit for materials in items not specified in paragraphs 1, 2, or 3 above except for electrical wire cable insulation, and for small parts (such as knobs, handles, rollers, fasteners, clips, grommets, rub strips, pulleys, and small electrical parts) that the Administrator finds would not contribute significantly to the propagation of a fire. 5. 45-Degree Bunsen Burner Test for materials used in baggage and cargo compartment ceiling and sidewall liners and floor panels. The flame may not penetrate (pass through) the material during application of the flame or subsequent to its removal. The average flame time after removal of the flame source may not exceed 15 seconds, and the average glow time may not exceed 10 seconds. 6. 60-Degree Bunsen Burner Test for insulation on electrical wire and electrical cable. Material must be self-extinguishing when tested at an angle of 60 degrees in accordance with the applicable portions of Appendix F of this part, or other approved equivalent methods. The average burn length must not exceed 3 inches (76 mm) and the average flame time after removal of the flame source must not exceed 30 seconds. Drippings from the test specimen must not continue to flame for more than an average of 3 seconds after falling. NOTE: This Includes delegation to recommend approval of flammability test plans which conform without deviation to the procedures described in DOT/FAA/AR-00/12 Aircraft Materials Fire Test Handbook.

Part 23 - Full Auth:L11, P11. Rec Auth:None. Limitation: 14 CFR part 23.2325 for the following flammability testing authorities (procedures as described in DOT/FAA/AR-00/12 Aircraft Materials Fire Test Handbook); 1. Vertical Bunsen Burner Test with 60 second flame exposure time for Interior ceiling panels, interior wall panels, partitions, galley structure, large cabinet walls, structural flooring, and materials used in the construction of stowage compartments (other than underseat stowage compartments and compartments for stowing small items such as magazines and maps). This also includes self-extinguishing materials located on the cabin side of the firewall. The average burn length may not exceed 6 inches and the average flame time after removal of the flame source may not exceed 15 seconds. Drippings from the test specimen may not continue to flame for more than an average of 3 seconds after falling. 2. Vertical Bunsen Burner Test with 12 second flame exposure time for floor covering, textiles (including draperies and upholstery), seat cushions, padding, decorative and non-decorative coated fabrics, leather, trays and galley furnishings, electrical conduit, thermal and acoustical insulation and insulation covering, air ducting, joint and edge covering, cargo compartment liners, insulation brakes, cargo covers and transparencies, molded and thermoformed parts, air ducting joints, and trim strips (decorative and chafing), that are constructed of materials not covered in paragraph 3 below. The average burn length may not exceed 8 inches and the average flame time after removal of the flame source may not exceed 15 seconds. Drippings from the test specimen may not continue to flame for more than an average of 5 seconds after falling. 3. Horizontal Bunsen Burner Test with 2.5 inches per minute burn length limit for Acrylic windows and signs, parts constructed in whole or in part of elastomeric materials, edge-lighted instrument assemblies consisting of two or more instruments in a common housing, seatbelts, shoulder harnesses, and cargo and baggage tiedown equipment, including containers, bins, pallets, etc., used in passenger or crew compartments. 4. Horizontal Bunsen Burner Test with 4.0 inches per minute burn length limit for materials in items not specified in paragraphs 1, 2, or 3 above except for electrical wire cable insulation, and for small parts (such as knobs, handles, rollers, fasteners, clips, grommets, rub strips, pulleys, and small electrical parts) that the Administrator finds would not contribute significantly to the propagation of a fire. 5. 45-Degree Bunsen Burner Test for materials used in baggage and cargo compartment ceiling and sidewall liners and floor panels. The flame may not penetrate (pass through) the material during application of the flame or subsequent to its removal. The average flame time after removal of the flame source may not exceed 15 seconds, and the average glow time may not exceed 10 seconds. 6. 60-Degree Bunsen Burner Test for insulation on electrical wire and electrical cable. Material must be self-extinguishing when tested at an angle of 60 degrees in accordance with the applicable portions of Appendix F of this part, or other approved equivalent methods. The average burn length must not exceed 3 inches (76 mm) and the average flame time after removal of the flame source must not exceed 30 seconds. Drippings from the test specimen must not continue to flame for more than an average of 3 seconds after falling. Part 23 - Full Auth:L11. Rec Auth:None. Limitation: 14 CFR part 23.2325 (a)(1)(2)(3), (b)(1)(2), (c); for the following flammability testing authorizations (procedures as described in 14 CFR Part 23 Appendix F23, Amendment 23-62, or DOT/FAA/AR-00/12 Aircraft Materials Fire Test Handbook): 1. Vertical Bunsen Burner Test with 60 second flame exposure time for Interior ceiling panels, interior wall panels, partitions, galley structure, large cabinet walls, structural flooring, and materials used in the construction of stowage compartments (other than under seat stowage compartments and compartments for stowing small items such as magazines and maps). This also includes self-extinguishing materials located on the cabin side of the firewall. The average burn length may not exceed 6 inches and the average flame time after removal of the flame source may not exceed 15 seconds. Drippings from the test specimen may not continue to flame for more than an average of 3 seconds after falling. 2. Vertical Bunsen Burner Test with 12 second flame exposure time for floor covering, textiles (including draperies and upholstery), seat cushions, padding, decorative and non-decorative coated fabrics, leather, trays and galley furnishings, electrical conduit, thermal and acoustical insulation and insulation covering, air ducting, joint and edge covering, cargo compartment liners, insulation brakes, cargo covers and transparencies, molded and thermoformed parts, air ducting joints, and trim strips (decorative and chafing), that are constructed of materials not covered in paragraph 3 below. The average burn length may not exceed 8 inches and the average flame time after removal of the flame source may not exceed 15 seconds. Drippings from the test specimen may not continue to flame for more than an average of 5 seconds after falling. 3. Horizontal Bunsen Burner Test with 2.5 inches per minute burn length limit for Acrylic windows and signs, parts constructed in whole or in part of elastomeric materials, edge-lighted instrument assemblies consisting of two or more instruments in a common housing, seatbelts, shoulder harnesses, and cargo and baggage tie down equipment, including containers, bins, pallets, etc., used in passenger or crew compartments. 4. Horizontal Bunsen Burner Test with 4.0 inches per minute burn length limit for materials in items not specified in paragraphs 1, 2, or 3 above except for electrical wire cable insulation, and for small parts (such as knobs, handles, rollers, fasteners, clips, grommets, rub strips, pulleys, and small electrical parts) that the Administrator finds would not contribute significantly to the propagation of a fire. 5. 45-Degree Bunsen Burner Test for materials used in baggage and cargo compartment ceiling and sidewall liners and floor panels. The flame may not penetrate (pass through) the material during application of the flame or subsequent to its removal. The average flame time after removal of the flame source may not exceed 15 seconds, and the average glow time may not exceed 10 seconds. 6. 60-Degree Bunsen Burner Test for insulation on electrical wire and electrical cable. Material must be self-extinguishing when tested at an angle of 60 degrees in accordance with the applicable portions of 14 CFR Part 23 Appendix F23.1, Part I, Amendment 23-62, or other approved equivalent methods. The average burn length must not exceed 3 inches (76 mm) and the average flame time after removal of the flame source must not exceed 30 seconds. Drippings from the test specimen must not continue to flame for more than an average of 3 seconds after falling. 7. Flammability and Flame Propagation Characteristics of Thermal/Acoustic Insulation Materials: When tested in accordance with 14 CFR Part 23 Appendix F23.2, Part II, Amendment 23-62, or other approved equivalent methods; a. There must be no flame propagation beyond 2 inches (51 mm) to the left of the centerline of the pilot flame application, and b. The flame time after removal of the pilot burner may not exceed 3 seconds on any specimen.
